

Dear Sir and/or Madam,

This injustice has dragged on for so long in the hope (by some) that memories would just fade away, however it is not going to be allowed to 'fade away'.

Decisions and agreements were reached with our Prime Minister and parliament, with promises being made, but not honoured, after a very costly most necessary enquiry.

What came to light as a result of that enquiry can only be described as absolutely shocking concerning the behaviour of our so called free press, with the guilty being allowed to walk away with little more than a smirk on their consciences!

Rather than being made to implement the Leveson recommendations, the press is now being allowed to operate behind a smoke screen of 'self regulation', (those who choose to take part). Total hypocrisy!

Please can you do everything within your remit to make sure justice is served, with a strong recommendation from yourselves to parliament that the recommendations of The Leveson enquiry are implemented without further delay, and that the victims of similar events be granted access to proper justice. Thank you.

Yours very sincerely,

Allan Wright
