

Dear Sir or Madam,

The media is supposed to be for the service of the people and not the other way round. Proprietors seem to think that they can write what they want, true or not, and we should accept what they have written or said without argument. We need an independent panel that protects the rights and reputations of people, whether they can afford legal representation or not and irrespective of their place in society.

Rob Doragh