

Dear Sirs,

I am very concerned that the recommendations are being progressively 'kicked into the high grass'.

Please do your duty for ordinary people whom have little individual influence but upon whom our nation, at times of emergencies, relies upon to make personal and sometimes the ultimate sacrifice.

1. Parliament needs to be reminded by you, the PRP, what the Leveson Report said should happen if the industry tried to veto his recommendations and refused to comply. The Leveson Report says: "if some or all of the industry are not willing to participate in effective independent regulation, my own concluded view is to reject the notion that they should escape regulation altogether. I cannot, and will not, recommend another last chance saloon for the press. With some measure of regret, therefore, I am driven to conclude that the Government should be ready to consider the need for a statutory backstop regulator being established, to ensure, at the least, that the press are subject to regulation that would require the fullest compliance with the criminal and civil law, if not also to ensure consequences equivalent to those that would flow from an independent self-regulatory system."
2. In the meantime, regardless of whether IMPRESS is recognised by you the PRP, please strongly recommend to Parliament that the key 'guaranteed access to justice incentive' (section 40 of the Crime and Courts Act) should be brought into effect as Parliament had intended.

Confidence and trust in Parliament and its' leaders is eroding swiftly and it is your duty and within your influence to address this situation !. - Please do it.

Yours faithfully

Roger Field
