

1. The new system for overseeing press regulation in the UK has been a failure because many publishers have refused to participate. The Government should therefore implement Levenson's view that a statutory backstop regulator be established. The PRP Report should make this very clear.
2. The financial advantages of low-cost arbitration will be a significant factor. I strongly feel that the PRP Report should recommend that Parliament makes effective Section 40 of the Crime and Courts Act 2013.

Roy Pearson