

Given the obvious unwillingness of the press to accept regulation I trust that the government will set up a statutory regulatory body to protect victims of the media and ensure that the press has to behave responsibly and comply with the law.

Arline Gaskell