

i once had a thankfully brief experience of uninvited and unexpected press intrusion. It was most upsetting for me and my family and, 40 years later, the details remain painfully vivid in my memory.

I feel passionately on behalf of the many other individuals and families much more seriously afflicted. It is essential that Leveson's Report should be implemented in full. No shameful "ifs, ands or buts". The Press will remain free but accountable. Shame on all those concerned if the Report ends up watered down.
